EA Enabling Recipe

Situational Diagnosis Recipe

Reason for Existence

This technique is a strategising technique that is based on diagnostic principles and can be used at all three architectural levels to enable decision making through decision support.

In order to develop a strategy to get one out of a particular situation one needs to diagnose the original situation in context of what caused it and where one's potential options can take you. This process is done through the use of Rule Application Diagrams that define the Situation, Decision and Actions taken

Situational Diagnosis (Using A Rule Application Diagram (RAD))
